It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, independent of sect or party, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morality. Appreciating the necessity for a Superior Newspaper in this part of Kentucky, we will bend every energy to make the SHELBY SENTINEL acceptable to all classes. To those who have a distaste for partisan strife, our paper will be a welcome guest. In it the angry mutterings of discord will be hushed in the endeavor to heal the frightful wounds, which years of war have caused. To sustain our paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby. While the local interests of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State.

The general interests and welfare of the county can in no better way be advanced than through the medium of a newspaper. Devoting our attention to all topics of the day, we will freely and independently discuss them. To prevent any misapprehension as to the position which the SHELBY SENTINEL will occupy, we will state that our approval and support will be given to a mild and conciliatory policy, condemning all radical, revolutionary or unjust measures. Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country and that these views are such as the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse, we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in the opinion that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

Selected Poetry.

"CHILD, I WILL TAKE THY HAND."

A REPLY TO "FATHER TAKE MY HAND."

The way is dark, my child! but leads to light.

I would not always have thee walk by sight;

My dealings now thou canst not understand;

I meant it so, but I will take thy hand,

And through the gloom

Lead safely home

My child,

The day goes fast, my child! but is the night

Darker to me than day? In me is light;

Keep close to me, and every spectral band

Of fears shall vanish. I will take thy hand,

And through the night

Lead up to light

My child!

The way is long, my child! but it shall be

Not one step longer than is best for thee,

And thou shalt know at last, when thou shalt stand

Safe at the goal, how I did take thy hand.

And quick and straight

Lead to heaven's gate

My child!

The path is rough, my child! But oh! how sweet

Will be the rest, for weary pilgrims meet,

When you shall reach the borders of that land

To which I lead thee, as I take thy hand,

And safe and blest

With me shall rest

My child!

The throng is great, my child! but at thy side

Thy Father walks: then be not terrified,

For I am with thee: will thy foes command

To let thee freely pass; will take thy hand,

And through the throng

Lead safe along

My child!

The cross is heavy, child! Yet there was One

Who bore a heavier for thee; my Son,

My well-beloved. For him bear thine; and stand

With Him at last, and from thy Father's hand,

Thy cross laid down,

Receive a crown,

My child!

Capital Story.

MY PRETTY SISTER.

She was very pretty, and everybody ac-knowledgeed it. She had soft brown curls, glossy and graceful; large hazel eyes, full of expression; a dainty little mouth, filled with even, white teeth; smooth, fair complexion, with a pretty flush of color; and the most graceful little figure in the world.

We all worshiped Rosa.

She was born for love. With a bright, active brain, above the average in power,

she culled enough of knowledge to make her conversation always pleasing. Her sweet, clear voice would warble with due deference to rule: her little hands make the piano-keys throw out floods of melody,

but all this was secondary to her gentle, winning manner, her loving heart. Without any open agreement to that effect, it was an understood part of the family to keep care far away from Rosa.

We lived in a great country town, and our father, a prominent lawyer, had an easy competence, that made us sometimes considered rather in the light of heiresses.

We were courted accordingly, but Rosa was the favorite. She was nearly eighteen, however, before her fate came.

Then, over the bright face there stole a new look; not a shadow, only a deeper meaning in the soft brown eyes, a rarer

sweetness in her smile, a more frequent air of thought on the low, broad forehead.

There was a new voice that would waken

a flush on her cheek, a new pair of admiring eyes to call smiles to her lips.

Graham Lewis, this friend of friends, was a young surgeon newly settled in our town, whose father was an old friend of our mother. Coming from New York to commence practice in our town, he became dependent upon us for those glimpses of Independent of sectarian or partisan attachment, free to criticize, condemn, or approve, any and all measures that may come up for discussion.

Mexico.

Maximilian having retired from Mexico, disgusted with a people who could not or would not appreciate his good offices, our Government steps into his vacant and rather slipshod shoes and proposes to do what Max. failed to do. There are several reasons why we are likely to fare no better than our disappointed predecessor. Republics are proverbially ungrateful, and Mexico will not prove an exception by any magnanimous return for our good intentions. Besides, if we are posted, and we think we are, our Government has a home contract which may well absorb the best statesmanship available. No doubt it would be a nice thing to give Mexico protection, aid her in a laudable attempt to establish a stable government, and do many other handsome and just things, but, in the mean time, our protection could be more profitably extended toward an impoverished and afflicted section of our own country. If Mexico could make as the most prodigal return for our disinterested offices, even to the half of the distracted country, with its mines rich in mineral wealth, have we not as much territory as we can well attend to with prudence, and more than we can cover with the mantle of patriotism? To enforce the Monroe Doctrine, is well enough, but Napoleon has been compelled to act upon its suggestions, and there is no necessity for any extraordinary display of diplomacy over a question which has been so thoroughly decided by natural causes. We repeat, we have no diplomacy or statesmanship to spare. It should be hoarded for home use.

Louis Napoleon.

Those learned writers, whose forte was in the prophetic line, whose gift it was to unravel the mysteries which shroud the world's history, may well tremble at the announcement that Napoleon is dying. How many volumes of grand speculation filled with terrible predictions which have no possible chance of fulfillment, will be utterly spoiled? The man to whom the unraveled mysteries of Biblical prophecy points as the destined monarch of the world, as the persecutor and wicked ruler of righteous men, lies at death's door, and probably will soon share the fate to which all men are doomed. The Emperor of France struggles with the King of Terrors, and he who has been the victor upon earth's battle-fields must acknowledge the overmastering power of his last terrible enemy. What change in the national affairs of his country his death may cause, can not be foreseen, and can only be imagined. That the light and fickle nation may desire a republic again is not improbable, especially since the Empress is more suited for a leader of fashion than the dignity and ability which becomes a queen. The Imperial Prince is yet a boy, whom the nation would not be inclined to honor.

The first Napoleon died an exile, but with his affections lingering upon the land which had been the theme of his most exalted hopes, and Louis Napoleon dies disappointed and saddened, with his career but partly and poorly accomplished.

OUR CORRESPONDENTS.—We have a number of favors which as soon as we enlarge the Sentinel we will publish. To our delight, "Quill" our talented correspondent has placed before us, quite a number of "Scraps" from his "Portfolio." Welcome thrice welcome, are the productions of one whose genius and learning are of the highest order. Our readers may anticipate a rare intellectual treat in the perusal of "Quills" best productions.

SUPERIOR NUMBER.—The Phrenological Journal for November contains sketches of the King and Queen of England, with likenesses; Chief men among the Mormons, with many excellent portraits and illustrations; besides Lyceum Lectures; Dr. J. Fossati, the celebrated French Phrenologist; Public Opinion; Women who talk; Family Dog; and a host of other reading, suggestive and profitable to all. Price 20 cents, or $2 a year. Address Fowler & Wells, 389 Broadway, New York.

An exchange comes to us with a notice that "Truth is crowded out of this number." All papers are not thus honest.

General John C. Breckinridge is at Versailles, France. Gen. Toombs, of Georgia, and Hon. Jacob Thompson, of Mississippi, are at the Grand Hotel, Paris.

The Louisville papers of Thursday give a revolting account of the murder of an old widow lady near Bowling Green by three negro men. The deed was committed to rob her of sixty-five dollars.

Miscellaneous.

The Firmness of the President.

Hon. John W. Leftwich, member of Congress for the Memphis district, in a recent letter to one of his constituents, thus speaks of the honesty and firmness of the President:

I have designedly said but little of Andrew Johnson, whose deeds speak loudly enough in his behalf, and will be remembered with admiring gratitude as long as republican institutions are so remembered.

He must be seen occasionally, under apparently the most adverse circumstances, to be fully appreciated. When his stout-hearted friends are most depressed with gloomy forebodings, a sight of his ever calm and hopeful countenance inspires a confidence in his success that cannot be explained even by those who experience it. Only to-day I heard a Radical, though a very clever member of this and the next Congress, say to him: "Your honesty of purpose is all that prevents us from overcom- ing you;" and closed a very pleasant interview by saying: "I am sorry to see you looking so well."

His unwavering faith in the people, in the face of the sorest disappointment, and even treachery, is so sublime that it evidently partakes more of the christian's faith in the justice of Omnipotence than he is himself aware of.

Strange to say, his noblest qualities are assailed with most vindictive malice, and no arguments are used against him with such perverted ingenuity as the false charge of inconsistency.

His acts and expressions during the war, when he was literally under fire, are contrasted with his present conduct, as evidence of this inconsistency. Shame on such sophistry; and a deeper shame on a people who boast of their intelligence, and whose credulity is so easily imposed upon.

Why not charge the war department with inconsistency, for disbanding an army, only because it was no longer needed?

Why not charge Congress with inconsistency for not continuing to vote supplies to an army not now in existence?

Why not arraign the sanitary commission on the same charge for discontinuing their ministrations of mercy, though the hospitals are empty; or the soldiers for cultivating the arts of peace now, who were then exposing themselves at the front? Any of these charges would be as legitimate as the one of inconsistency against Andrew Johnson.

Did he not act, or feel, or speak, as when rebel cannon were thundering around the capital of his State, he would indeed be criminally inconsistent; but when, with the return of peace, he rises to the sublime dignity of the occasion, how wicked and contemptible the complainings of those too sordid to rise with him.

Tennesseans know full well how he ruled with an iron rod during the existence of the rebellion; and though he has since manifested the God-like attribute of forgiveness, they also know that under similar circumstances, he would again grip on the dread panoply of war and hurl defiance at the enemies of his country.

The rumors occasionally going from here to the effect that he will modify his views, have no foundation in fact, but are industriously circulated with a faint hope to induce him to do so. Indeed, he cannot change while the constitution remains the supreme law of the land; for his determination to sacredly observe its teachings is as unchangeable as the laws of the Medes and Persians.

Prospects of Another European War.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Times states that another European war is imminent. He says:

It is generally recognized that the present peace is merely an armed truce which may continue for a year, perhaps for two, but certainly not beyond, and which will be succeeded by a struggle to which the war with Austria was hardly more than child's play. Whenever it happens, we may be pretty sure that Prussia will be well prepared for it; far from reducing her military establishment, she is enlarging it and completing it, her arsenals are filled to overflowing with implements of destruction, her gun factories are in full blast, strange rumors are current of new and un- dreamed of improvements in the artillery department, and if hostilities should break out, she may astonish her enemies with a second edition of the needle gun, more fatal and more decisive of victory than the first. On the other hand, Louis Napoleon is hard at work reorganizing his army and getting it in proper trim for a contest with the foremost military power on the continent—for such Prussia is now become—and unless the French emperor's thread of life should be prematurely snapped, he may be depended upon to take the earliest opportunity of retrieving the prestige he has lost, and which he can ill afford to dis- pense with. Then, indeed, Greek will meet Greek, and the tug of war will begin in good earnest.

Thanksgiving Proclamation, STATE OF KENTUCKY, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

The President of the United States having, by proclamation on the 8th instant, recommended "that Thursday, the 29th day of November next, be set apart and observed everywhere in the several States and Territories in the United States by the people thereof, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer to Almighty God, with due remembrance that in His temple doth every man speak of His honor;" now I, Thomas E. Bramlette, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do hereby call upon the people of Kentucky to keep and observe the day so set apart, "as a day of thanksgiving and prayer to Almighty God." "For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

Given under my hand and the Seal of State at the Executive office in Frankfort, October 31st, 1866.

THOS. E. BRAMLETTE, Governor of Kentucky.

By the Governor, JNO. S. VANWINKLE, Secretary of State.

News Summary.

Judge Underwood is to open the U. S. District Court on the 12th instant at Richmond.

Miss Fannie Seward, the only daughter and youngest child of the Secretary of State, died early on the 29th ult., from bilious fever. Her remains were conveyed to Auburn, New York, for interment.

A war cloud lowers upon Europe. The Spanish Government, the cable says, meditates a coup d'etat, the Hungarian Diet has been convoked, the Russian military and naval forces are to be increased to a war standard, the French ambassador is to be changed, and American securities abroad are lower.

A person who was recently called into court for the purpose of proving the correctness of a doctor's bill, was asked by the lawyer whether "the doctor did not make several visits after the patient was out of danger." "No," replied the witness, "I considered the patient in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits."

A dispatch to the Associated Press, from Fort Monroe, says:

"The parole granted Jeff Davis some months ago, giving him the privilege of the ground of the Fortress during the day, has been extended through the Executive clemency in removing all surveillance over him and the guards from his rooms in Carroll Hall at night."

GROSS OUTRAGE.—The Louisville Courier says: Friday night last a large barn and other out buildings and a quantity of lumber, on the farm of Miss Delia Webster, in Trimble county, Ky., were destroyed by fire—supposed to be the work of incendiaries to whom Miss Webster has made herself obnoxious. The good people of Trimble should put a stop to such outrages, and punish the perpetrators. They only furnish what the Radicals are glad to get—material on which they can fulminate to advantage.

DECISION OF THE COURT OF APPEALS IN THE CASE OF GENERAL PALMER.—The Courier publishes the recent decision of the Court of Appeals in reference to General Palmer, who was indicted in the inferior court for aiding the escape of slaves. Palmer was discharged by the lower court, and on appeal, the Court of Appeals remanded the case to the lower court for the trial of Palmer under the original indictment. This gave rise to the report that the Court of Appeals had decided that General Palmer was guilty of felony, &c.

CRITICISING PREACHING.—I never suffered myself to criticize it, but acted upon the uniform principle of endeavoring to obtain from what I heard all the edification it afforded. This is a principle I would warmly commend to my young friends in the present day; for nothing can be more mischievous than for learners to turn teachers and young hearers, critics. I am persuaded it is often the means of drying up the waters of life in the soul; and sure I am that an exact method of weighing words and balancing doctrines which we hear, is a miserable exchange for the tenderness of spirit and dew of heaven.

Local Items.

Now is the time to advertise; merchants let the public know that you have something new for the Fall trade.

Thomas Smock, of Marion county, Kentucky, has been fined $11,618 for selling whisky, bearing counterfeit inspection marks.

Mr. John Boswell of Spencer, has presented us with some of the largest Turnips that we ever saw. Such favors are always acceptable. Mr. Boswell has our thanks for his handsome present.

The residence of Mr. Henri F. Middleton is advertised for sale in this issue. It is desirable property and will be sold at a reasonable price, as Mr. M. intends leaving Shelbyville. It would be well to make immediate application.

THE REASON WHY.—Dr. Stivers' exceedingly chaste and refined deportment towards his patrons, in connection with his very excellent operations upon the organs of mastication, is the cause of his great success in our community.

SHOOTING IN CANADA.—A shooting affair occurred in town Saturday night. A negro named Andy Hardin shot and mortally scared a whole family of free citizens of African descent. Nobody killed and Andy still at large, is the latest report from the battle scene.

Any of our readers who wish to secure one of the most desirable residences in Shelbyville, are referred to the advertisement of Mr. Jos. V. Morton. This is valuable property and speculators, capitalists, or those who wish a good home would do well to give it an examination.

SCOTT'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, Atlanta Ga., for October sustains the able character of which the preceding numbers gave promise. The list of contents presents a choice range of rich reading. J. R. Barriek an eminent Kentucky poet is assistant editor. Our people should take this monthly.

PUBLISHING AGENCY.—From an advertisement in this paper it will be seen that a special agency has been added to the business of this office. The readers of the Sentinel are presented with a rare opportunity to secure choice engravings, prints, and latest publications, at the lowest retail prices, while agents and retail dealers can be supplied at publishers' lowest rates. See the partial list in another column.

THE AMERICAN ARTISAN.—We have before called attention to this publication, and can now only repeat our opinion of its inestimable worth to Mechanics, Inventors, Machinists, and in fact all working men. The information to be obtained in one number is frequently worth more than the subscription price, while 52 numbers of this valuable periodical constitutes a selection of reading, worth many times its cost. Our advice to Mechanics is, secure the best periodical that is published, devoted exclusively to your interest. Address Brown, Coombs & Co. 189 Broadway N. Y.

SILKS AT COST.—At the popular Dry Goods house of John A. Miller 104 fourth street, Louisville. We are informed by our friends, James W. Moore and Erastus A. Hope, clerks in this house, that they are selling their entire stock of handsome new style silks at cost. We advise our Shelby girls who wish nice silks, to call on Messrs. Moore & Hope at the above house. And besides being waited on with politeness and attention, they will save a profit. This house is also offering extra inducements to buyers, in the exceedingly low price of all their goods, the prices of which have been reduced.

SOOTHING AND HEALING.—We might with truth add, certainly curing in every case. No remedy known equals Coe's Cough Balsam, for Coughs, Croup and Consumption. It is an old and tried friend, and always proves true.

THERE IS NO DOUBT but what Coe's Dyspepsia Cure excels all remedies ever discovered for the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Pain after Eating, Cramps, Colic, and distress in either Stomach or Bowels. The people all speak in the most flattering terms of its merits.

EAT HEARTILY.—There are hundreds of people who do not dare to eat a hearty meal of victuals for fear of the distressing effects that follow. Coe's Dyspepsia Cure will stop it instantaneously. It has cured more cases of Dyspepsia than all other remedies combined. Take it freely and you will be satisfied of its merits.

LIKE MAGIC.—The certainty and quickness with which Coe's Cough Balsam cures Coughs, Colds, Croup, and lung difficulties Give to the children when attacked with Coughs and Colds, and rest assured you will find relief at once. Physicians say it is the best cough medicine in the world.

Artemus Ward was decidedly sharp when, in one of his letters to the London Punch, he said:

"I look at your last Parliament, and I can't see that a single speech was encoored during the entire session."

"Look at Congress—but no, I'd rather not look at Congress."

There are but very few of our people, to tell the truth, who want to look at our Congress.

LYON'S

PERIODICAL DROPS!

THE GREAT FEMALE REMEDY FOR

IRREGULARITIES.

I have tested these Drops in my own practice, over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has ever been developed by medical research, that acts so powerfully, positively, and harmless, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases it never fails, while thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day.

Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions.

They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. I could give you testimony of their efficacy from ladies all over the northern and Western States, were they not in their nature private. Over 100,000 bottles have been sold the past year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers have been benefited. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that where one bottle is used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.

To all who suffer from any irregularity; painful, difficult, excessive, or obstructed Menstruation, Leucorrhoea, or the train of diseases that follow, I would say, try a bottle of Dr. Lyon's Periodical Drops. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, bearing my fac simile, accompanying each bottle.

They may be obtained of nearly every druggist in the country, or by inclosing the price to C. G. Clark & Co., New Haven, Ct., General Agents for the United States and Canada.

STOLEN.

ON Thursday, October 16, there was stolen from my stable, 2 miles East of Shelbyville, on the Frankfort Pike, two horses—one a brown, about 12 years old, and in the forehand, and large wart on right snoulder. The other, a bay, about 7 years old, Government mark on left shoulder. Both horses were blind. The thieves also took from me a black padded saddle, nearly new, and from Mr. Henry F. Middleton they took a boy's black padded saddle and a fine leather bridle. A liberal reward will be given for the apprehension of the thieves and horses, or for either.

Miscellaneous:

Ruskin on Judas.

John Ruskin, in the Crown of Wild Olive, characterizes in his trenchant style those who live to make money, as imitators of Judas:

We do great injustice to Icarus, in thinking him wicked above all common wickedness. He was only a common money-lover, and, like all money-lovers, didn't understand Christ; couldn't make out the worth of Him or meaning of Him. He didn't want him to be killed. He was horror-struck when he found that Christ would be killed; threw his money away instantly, and hanged himself. How many of our present money-seekers, think you, would have the grace to hang themselves who-soever was killed? But Judas was a common, selfish, muddled headed, pilfering fellow; his hand always in the bag of the poor, not caring for them. He didn't understand Christ; yet believed in Him much more than any of us do; had seen Him do miracles, thought He was quite strong enough to shift for Himself, and he, Judas, might as well make his own little by perquisites out of the affair. Christ would come out of it well enough, and he have the thirty pieces. Now, that is the money-seekers' idea, all over the world. He doesn't hate Christ, but can't understand Him—doesn't care for Him—sees no good in that benevolent business; makes his own little by out of it, at all events, come what will. And thus, out of every class of men, you have ascertained a number of bag-men—your "fee first" men, whose main object is to make money. And they do make it—make it in all sorts of unfair ways, chiefly by the weight and force of money itself, or what is called the power of capital; that is to say the power which money, once obtained, has over the labor of the poor, so that the capitalist can take all its produce to himself, except the laborer's food. That is the modern Judas' way of "carrying the bag" and "bearing what is put therein."

THE BEAUTY OF TRUTH.—How often is a stigma cast upon Christianity because the veracity and moral integrity of its professors are so often called into question! Unfair indeed you will say, to blame Christianity for its counterfeiters; as well you may cast away good bank notes because there are some counterfeiters of them. Yes, and not only unfair, but looked at thoughtfully after all an unconscious compliment to Christianity; for the stigma implies that these men are not embodiments of the glorious creed they profess. We turn from the false copies to the fair and divine Original; how refreshing and stimulating to study his character who came to bear witness to the truth, and in whose mouth was no guile! Beautiful words these—NO GUILE—nothing even susceptible of mistake, or design to conceal.—How clearly he declares, when speaking of the rest of heaven, "If it were not so I would have told you"—implying that truth would have obligated him even to correct their anticipations; if false, as well as to unfold the revelation of eternal life. Think of him in the busy scenes of the market and the temple, sitting at the Pharisee's banquet, and eating at the Publican's table, yet ever and always revealing hidden hypocrisy and interpreting the sincere sigh for forgiveness and peace. True in what he said; true in what he threatened; true in what he promised; true in what he corrected; true in what he revealed.

WILTED.—During the election campaign in New York State last fall, the following amusing incident occurred at a political meeting, much to the discomfort of a spread-eagle orator. He spoke with earnest gesticulation, as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT AND FELLOW-CITIZENS: I would that on the morning of the 7th of November next, I had the wings of a bird. I would fly to every county, to every town, to every village and every hamlet in this broad land, and proclaim to every man, woman and child the success of the party. At this point a small boy in the crowd called out: "Dry up! you—old fool. You'd get shot for a goose before you flew a mile!" Stump speaker wilted, and small boy took the floor.

RIP VAN WINKLE REBORN.—The Greenville (Ala.) Advocate relates the following: As we were travelling a few days ago between Texas and Pollard we came across something in the shape of a man. He had a cap of coonskin, shoes of raw hide, his coat and pants may have been of Confederate gray, but the rags were so slimy that it was impossible to identify them. He had an old canteen and haversack. On enquiry we found out that he was a deserter from the Confederate army, and had been lying in the Titi Swamps of Florida, and had just heard that the war was over, and was hunting up a Federal officer to get paroled.

Blanton Duncan publishes, in the N. Y. Post, a letter on the subject of the Confederate debt. He takes the ground that there is no Confederate debt. The debt has never matured. It was conditioned to be paid "two years after the ratification of peace between the Confederate States and the United States." Those who took the bonds took them with the full knowledge of this condition, and were careful to charge a heavy per cent. for the hazard. Now that it has gone against them they have no right to complain either of the South or of the United States. It is certainly not our business to pay the losses of speculators who gambled in such stocks to our detriment, and not the business of the Southern States to pay debts not due.

A cabin boy on board a ship, the Captain of which was a religious man, was called up to be whipped for some misdemeanor. Little Jack went crying and trembling to the Captain: "Pray, sir, will you wait till I say my prayers?" "Yes," was the stern reply. "Well, then," replied Jack, looking up and smiling triumphantly, "I'll say them when I get ashore."

The Evansville Journal is out on the "poor white trash" of the South. It is a mistake. There is none of that editor's class in the South.
